23 January - 5 February 1965

1. No unusual or significant developments took place during this reporting period.

STAT 2. New Requirements: No new or unusual personnel or materiel requirements have been levied during this reporting period. I have scheduled Messrs. Lyman Kirkpatrick, [] and Sherman Kent for presentations in the new Advanced Intelligence Course (AIC) beginning in March.

3. Materiel Support: No significant materiel support has been provided during this period.

4. Agency Presentations:

STAT a. 27 January - Attaché Course - Messrs. [] and []
STAT [] - Surveillance and Countersurveillance. Both []
STAT and [] did a highly professional job in presenting this subject. This session was also used for briefing on the exercise scheduled for 4 February. The post-lecture reaction to this presentation was very good.

STAT b. 28 January - Attaché [] - [] 50X1
STAT [] This is a subject of great interest to the Attaché, for 50X1 whom the program is primarily developed. [] as program coordinator, presents the program well and in a highly realistic and objective manner. Well received.

STAT c. 1 February - Attaché [] - Materiel
STAT Identification. I was unable to monitor this presentation, but staff reaction to [] presentation was complimentary.

STAT d. 2 February - Defense Intelligence Course (DIC) []
STAT [] Intelligence and Security Service. Mr. [] lecture was well presented. His complete grasp of the subject makes this presentation an outstanding one for the students. His frank and honest response to student questions brought highly favorable reaction from the students.
